TYING THE KNOT

We met in 2009 during our frosh week at Wilfrid Laurier University. We were moving into our campus residence and just so happened to be placed on the same floor just down the hall from one another. The first time we met was as we walked to a party with a group of friends from our residence. Trevor could hear Tanya making jokes with one of her roommates and thought she was funny, so he took a chance and walked up to her. We immediately felt a connection with each other as we started trading silly comments and jokes. The two of us spent the whole party talking and we found out that we were in the same program, and would have many classes together. Over the next few weeks we were inseparable, we did everything together – most people thought we came to university dating already!

It was our 7.5 year anniversary so Trevor planned a morning at a spa and then lunch in the Distillery District – one of our favourite areas in Toronto. During our walk over to have lunch, Tanya stopped in front of the the big red heart sculpture to take a selfie (as she always did), while Trevor started giving a very sweet speech as he got down on one knee and asked Tanya to be his wife!

For our reception we wanted to design a room that would look elegant, modern and amaze people when they first entered with all of the attention to detail. We knew our guests were a bunch of party animals so we made a large focal bar across from our main backdrop, and connecting them we had a large dance floor covered with a vinyl decal to bring them together; creating a social area in the hopes that we would get everyone dancing all night – and it definitely worked out well!

We loved the look of the all white with gold chrome accents so we carried that through most of the decor. We added in pops of colour with large floral compositions of pinks and burgundy and also with silk burgundy napkins and gold charger plates.

Our favourite detail was definitely the custom backdrop. We were so grateful for the hard work and time Tanya's father had put into making it the unique and stunning piece we had envisioned!
